

Flashes of Life Sketched In Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

Belgrade, Yugoslavia—A playwright's paradise is what Belgrade is getting to be. Because the Belgrade Illustrated Weekly and Telegram Yankovich's new play was the competent: "The Judge" was the judge of the paper's editors to the days in jail. The judge thought it was hard enough to make a play play without critics bawling it.

New York—A brilliant game with cards 20 feet high is one of the things Promoter James Johnson plans to put on in a new stadium building here. The players would press buttons and a device would play the cards in such a way that the fans in the back row could see them.

London, England, a war horse, is going to have a birthday party Thursday. He rates 21 candles. Warrior carried Maj. Gen. J. E. B. Seeley all through the World War without a scratch. He's used to luxury. Once, on the western front, his master stabled him in the drawing room of a French villa and he ate corn off an ornate table.

Verona, Italy—Giuseppe Fumasoni, 17, is Verona's spaghetti-eating champ. With his hands tied, he devoured two pounds of the elusive strands in 14 minutes. Not once did any of it stray off the plate.

Faenza, Italy—The free lunch—an old Roman custom—has been revived here. On St. Lazarus' day you can enter any house in the Borgo Durbecco, the most ancient part of the city, and eat all you want free. The Romans established the custom to attract tourists.

Vineland, N. J.—Arthur J. Smart has asked President Hoover to make school authorities here quit bothering him. Smart has resisted attempts to force his three children to attend public school. He has told President Hoover that on their way to school they might be bitten by dogs, run over by autos, or persuaded to play truant by other pupils, and even if they should arrive safely at their classes they might be exposed to measles or chickenpox. In addition he said his wife is a better teacher than they have in the schools and "she doesn't teach them a lot of nonsense."

Telling the Pilot of the Weather

EVERY minute of every hour, day and night, pilots of United Air Lines coast-to-coast passenger-mail-express planes can listen or talk to one or more of 35 United radio telephone ground stations, or they can talk to pilots of other planes in flight. Weather reports are the chief topics of conversation between planes and ground stations. This photograph shows the mechanism in a United Air Lines ground station with the operator talking to the pilot of a plane 125 miles away and getting his message to the pilot of a k'd back from the plane. The large clock on the wall governs the sequence on which pilots, with their watches synchronized to this clock, phone in and report their position, and it tells the operator when he shall broadcast to the particular pilots he is following. There are sufficient sequences on this clock, which is found in all radio stations, to govern radio reports to 24 planes.

ROCK SCHOOL 4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES ANNOUNCED

Rifton, April 19—The girls' club held a regular meeting of the club in the school house on Saturday.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Ethel Eckert, and the regular order of business took place. Various ways of raising money to send all club members to the 4-H Camp were discussed. It was finally decided that the club would give an entertainment about May 15, and the proceeds would be used for camp. Everyone enjoyed the camp so much last year that they all wish to attend again. The girls and boys receive many instructions at camp which is a great help to them in their work as well as all having a fine time.

A short program was given which was as follows: Kathryn Ambrose Recitations by Audrey Kidd and Margaret Prehn. Original monologue by Sofia Palko-lwics.

On Wednesday, April 20, the members of both clubs will attend a community meeting in the Grange Hall at New Paltz.

The girls have the material for their new uniforms and are ready to begin work on them.

The girls of the drum corps have their uniforms almost completed.

The club gave a pinchle party on April 14 and a most enjoyable time was had by all.

GENEVA CONFERENCE APPROVES PROPOSAL

Geneva, April 19 (P).—The world disarmament conference today approved, as a general principle, a proposal that disarmament reduction shall be by stages, with successive revisions "after this conference has taken a first decisive step of general reduction to the lowest possible level."

This proposal is a combination of a joint proposal made by several nations yesterday and objections offered by France and Poland.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson appeared at the session and sat with the American delegation. His arrival caused a lively hum of excitement among the delegates and spectators and a general craning of necks.

Gen. March Replies To Wartime Critics

Washington, April 19 (P).—General Peyton C. March, chief of staff of the American Army during the World War, has written a book of memoirs, answering his critics with "gloves off."

This phrase in regard to his treatment of wartime controversies and the men involved in them was used in advance notices of the volume, a 55,000 word manuscript entitled, "The Nation At War," now in the hands of publishers.

March is the last of the important war leaders to put his own story on paper. It is a story he had not intended to write until he read recently published memoirs of General John J. Pershing. This book, March's friends say, he considered did not give the war department a square deal.

Two chapters describe in detail the differences between General Pershing and the department. They show that the commander in France sometimes was overruled, emphatically by March and Secretary Baker.

Another section of the March book deals with the relations between congress and the war organization. Backed by Baker, the chief of staff paid no attention to demands by legislators for special favors. The advance notices say that relatives of senators or representatives were given no commission without training, nor were they exempted from the draft if March could prevent it. Favoritism was taboo.

One result of this, it is related, was a cabal against March in congress, which refused after the war to retire him as a full general. The rank, however, was given him several years later.

ROSENDALE GRANGE EXJOYS MOCK TRIAL AFTER BUSINESS

Rosendale, April 19.—After the usual business meeting of the Rosendale Grange, held on Monday, April 11, a mock trial was given by the following Grange members:

Lloyd LeFever and Edward Conway, to a large gathering of Grange members and visitors. It was a scream from start to finish. The characters were: Judge, John J. Duffy; attorney for plaintiff, Lloyd LeFever; attorney for defendant, Edward Conway; clerk of court, Harold Krom; Sheriff Henry Hirtzel, Henry Mollenbauer; jurors, Miss Harriet Mertine, Miss Lena Krempfer, Mrs. Nettie Rowe, Oscar Diedolf, Leon Hill, Rutsen Ten Hagen. Two jurors were excused for having taken out either the plaintiff or defendant. They were Mrs. Esther Terhune and Otto Mollenbauer.

After a spirited talk by the attorney for the defendant, who refused to use the same counsel table with the opposing counsel, the following witnesses appeared in the order named: Henry Dittmar, Gladia Carbuncle, the 15 year old farmer's daughter, who resides in Madhook; George Kennedy, Hiram Carbuncle, a farmer who makes cheese and potato whiskey on the side; Neal Hotelling, Wallingford James, an inventor and a get-rich-quick gentleman who resides in Accord, Harold Henze, Kalsomine Kid, soda clerk and bouncer at the Hoffman House; Floyd Deltz, as taxi driver, Harold Beauvais for Meyer's garage; Peter Zegel, Jr., Dr. Fod'em, the love doctor from New York; Stephen Hulse, Lake McLake, hotel clerk at the Hoffman House.

The jury rendered a verdict in favor of both plaintiff and defendant, and all enjoyed refreshments. A vote of thanks was given Mr. LeFever and Mr. Conway.

The next regular meeting will be Monday, April 25, at which time the first and second degrees will be conferred on a large class of candidates.

The refreshment committee includes host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paradise, Mr. Carl Munson, Mrs. Rose Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dewey, Abram Paradise, Miss Ruth Paradise, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Keister, Oliver Keister, Elson Keister, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hill and Christiana Waltz.

The Grange card party and dance will be held in Zegel's Casino, Wed-

The April term of County Court was adjourned session Monday afternoon in the supervisors' room, due to the fact that the court room is being repainted. The council also adopted this resolution, of which copies will be sent to Senators Wagner and Cleveland and Representative Francis D. O'Sullivan.
 "It is now conceded by thinking people throughout the United States that the house experiment has been a dismal failure and that a reform such as was contemplated by the amendment must be by education rather than by statute."

OIL PRODUCERS MAKE PROTEST TO LINE TAX
 Washington, April 19 (P).—Inland oil producers, through Harry H. Smith of Tulsa, secretary of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, today protested before the Senate Finance Committee the proposed eight per cent pipe line tax.
 Smith told the committee the proposed levy would fall on the inland producers very severely and would "put many out of business."
 "A pipe line tax inevitably will be a tax on the producers themselves, rather than on the pipe line companies," Smith said, adding: "The oil industry cannot bear additional taxes at this time."
Bull In A Motor Sales Room
 Buffalo, N. Y., April 19 (P).—It wasn't a "bull in a china shop," it was a bull in a motor sales room, but the damage was just about the same. The bull escaped from the Buffalo stockyards early today, ran wild through the crowded east side of the city, and finally charged pursuing police and pedestrians. Then the animal crashed through the plate glass window of a motor sales showroom and damaged a new automobile. Police shot the animal.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables
 New York, April 19 (P).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets)—Demand for strawberries fell off sharply, and prices slumped. Jobbing sales on various varieties in pint baskets from Florida were reported within the price range of 10-16 cents principally 12-14 cents, and from Louisiana 8-14 cents, chiefly 10-12 cents.
 The price trend on Florida new crop potatoes was again upward in a stronger market as receipts continued limited. On the other hand, there were no important price changes on old crop potatoes since yesterday. Supplies were moderate, as was the demand. Offerings of western New York beans, carrots and onions were limited. The demand was equally light, and the market was generally inactive.

Recent News About Woodstock Artists

Woodstock, N. Y., April 19 (Special).—The week's news about the artists of the Catskill Mountain art colony concerns a full-sized controversy at the Art Student's League in New York which involves several artists, and the cancellation of the Michel Jacobs European tour, which will doubtless send the Jacobs' class and students offener to Woodstock over the summer week-ends.

The Art Student's League controversy commenced with the resignation as president by John Sloan. Jonas Lie, member of the board, also resigned, but his resignation was not accepted, while Mr. Sloan's was. A member's and student's protest committee was formed, asking Mr. Sloan to reconsider his resignation. He refused on the ground that as president, his plans for the widest interests of the league were opposed by the board of control. Mr. Sloan wanted democratic government, not dictatorship, he said.

While this matter was in the air, H. E. Schenkenberg, who has exhibited as a member of the local group, entered his name as a candidate for the office of president, now vacant. Immediately the members and students protest committee sent Mr. Schenkenberg a letter, asking that he withdraw his name as a candidate for the presidency of the league, in favor of Mr. Sloan.

Commenting on this matter, the New York Times said on Sunday: "The committee called upon Mr. Schenkenberg to withdraw in favor of Mr. Sloan 'in the best interests of the league.' As the former was out of town the letter was not expected to reach him until today or possibly tomorrow (Monday), when a delegation will call upon him for an answer."

It could not be learned whether Mr. Schenkenberg was at Woodstock, or not today. It is expected that he will gladly withdraw his candidacy in favor of Mr. Sloan, who will be re-instated, and the league controversy settled for a time. Part of the trouble commenced when Mr. Sloan wished to engage a German instructor, George Grosz, to teach at the league, and the board of control objected.

The Michel Jacobs cancellation of his regular summer European trip with his students is, according to his own announcement, "on account of the financial conditions at the present time."

Mr. Jacobs will continue teaching during the entire year at the New York School.

As previously reported in this paper, he plans to take classes outdoors to paint, during the spring and summer months, in and around New York city. One of the places already mentioned for the week-end and week trips is Woodstock. Mr. Jacobs has been to Woodstock before, and is familiar with the colony and its accommodations. Bringing his New York classes here this summer is expected to contribute a great deal to the annual influx of business.

Speicher Honored
 Among the Woodstock artists Eugene Speicher was chosen as one of a committee of selection for the American paintings to be in the large "International" exhibit in January, 1933, at Worcester Art Museum. This International show will have 250 oil paintings from 18 countries, one painting by each artist. There were eight other artists chosen for the American committee to serve with Mr. Speicher. This "International" art show is sponsored by the College Art Association, and will be that organization's most important exhibition to circulate on tour of principal American cities for 1933.

Pittman Honored
 A young Woodstock artist, who was recently honored by being elected a member of an American Group, cooperative association of artists with a gallery at the Barbizon-Plaza Hotel, New York, is Hodson Pittman. Mr. Pittman has shown work in the Woodstock art gallery. He is represented in the Metropolitan Museum, the Brooklyn Museum, the Pennsylvania Academy, and in the "Fifty Prints of the Year (1932)". He has worked in various mediums, water color, wood block, oil and etching.

Mr. Jewell, art editor of the New York Times, has recently asked of a Maverick artist, "What has happened to Arnold Blanch's humor?" Mr. Jewell had seen Mr. Blanch's exhibit at the Rehn Gallery, and went on to write, "A few years ago he was painting delightfully naive landscapes, with hunters out for whatever game might happen along; hunters who had a way of arriving in the most incredible old autos. A spectator's chuckles came easily, spontaneously. This jovial spirit appears rather less in evidence today."

John Carroll, one of the ultra-modernists of the Woodstock school, is having an exhibit of his recent drawings at the Frank K. M. Rehn Gallery on Fifth Avenue, New York, this month.

At the Children's Art Center, 184 Eldridge street, New York, there is a showing for the month of April of a group of drawings for illustration of children's books, lent by publishers. Among the artists represented is Mischka Petersham, Woodstock artist, who, with his wife, Maud, has had such success with writing and illustrating children's books for the past few years.

Two local artists, A. Walkowitz and Y. Kuniyoshi, are among the artists represented in the opening exhibition at the Eighth St. Gallery, which opened on Monday, April 18, at 61 West 8th street, New York city.

John F. Carlson, who lives at Byrdcliffe, and is well known in Woodstock and vicinity as one of the first settlers of the colony, is among others whose work is being featured at the Brooklyn Museum on the fourth floor in an exhibit of paintings and sculpture by the Society of Scandinavian-American Artists.

And as for the local news, which springs from the economic depression that is felt by some of the artists in New York city, there has been a request made for permission to open an out-door market for paintings in Washington Square.

Park in New York's Bohemian center. The Woodstock artists who are interested in this plan to offer the full to the buying of art, and to stimulate the art-buying public, have experienced in a minor way the advantage of displaying paintings out-of-doors at Woodstock, where the weekly market fair is often used to show paintings by individual artists, and on occasion has been the scene for an out-of-door art auction. If permission is given in New York, Washington Square Park, at the south extremity of Fifth Avenue, may become like the art quarter of Paris, with street and sidewalk art vendors, their paintings displayed on huge curb boards, forming the hub of a colorful section of the city, and drawing thousands of visitors from everywhere to gaze at their wares. Mrs. Floyd Kniffen and children were guests of Mrs. William Bernard at Modena on Sunday.

The Dutch Reformed Sunday school had the pleasure of entertaining Miss Sue Weddell, executive secretary of the board of missions of New York over the past week-end. Miss Weddell brought forth some excellent projects for missionary study. Every class will have some project to do in the future. Through her excellent guidance the Sunday school board mapped out a year's work in mission study. They also decided to devote the last Sunday of the month to mission study and the collection of that Sunday used for mission work. The attendance last Sunday was 144.

On Friday Dr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Woolsey entertained at dinner and cards Mr. and Mrs. J. P. LeFevre, Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Schoonmaker and Mr. and Mrs. Millard DuBois.

There are now 32 members in the contract bridge class. The next meeting will be Thursday, April 21. A number of New Paltz people visited Poughkeepsie on Saturday.

Miss Arlene Stokes and Mrs. Theresa Stokes called on Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Wager in Modena last week.

One Cent-A-Word Advs. Bring Results

A farmer friend tells us that the price of fresh eggs has been so low since the start of the year, that she has, instead of packing when they lay one, blazes.

Too many of our dear citizens seem to think that the Lord put them on earth to pry into other folks' affairs and regulate their morals.

One morning the parcel post carrier has a package for a Mrs. Goldstein, who lives in the outskirts of the big city. He blew his whistle several times and yelled the name of Goldstein before a voice from the top floor answered, "Yes?"

Postman—A package for Mrs. Goldstein. Will you please come down and sign for it?

Voice From Above—What kind package?

Postman—A large one.

Voice From Above—From who comes it?

Postman—From a Mr. Steinberg.

Voice From Above—From where?

Postman—From California. Will you please come down and sign for it?

Voice From Above—What's in the package?

Postman—I can't tell you, madam. I don't know.

Voice From Above (in a surprised tone)—You can't tell me what's in the package?

Postman (losing all that was left of his temper)—No, madam. I can't.

There was a pause.

Voice From Above (finally)—Well, you'll have to come back tomorrow. Mrs. Goldstein ain't home.

Static.

The purpose of government is not to support the people, but to maintain conditions under which they can support themselves.

Probably Cain would have turned out better if Mother Eve had been up on child psychology.

Other folks will tell you very confidentially how to run your business. But if you take their advice and you fail, they won't worry about it. They're likely to think that it's good enough for you.

and it really is. A girl can marry the man she might love, but she married the man she does love, it's just luck.

A great many times women act dumb because it seems to be to their advantage to do so.

The younger set appear to regard marriage as a sort of endurance test.

In which the one who can prove that he or she suffers more, wins the prize.

When the business of the country gets down to brass tacks we hope it won't be sitting on the pointed end.

Should young men seek the advice of old men? There aren't as many facts to support an affirmative answer to this question as you might think.

The first kiss used to be the climax of love—now it's merely the overture.

Some men were born for great things.

Some men were born for small; some—it is not recorded.

Why they were born at all.

Father—Yes, my boy, I'm a self-made man.

Son—Gee, Pop, that's what I admire about you. You always take the blame for everything.

Willie Hick listened attentively one day to the story of the lamb that was eaten by the wolf.

His Mother—You see, Willie, if the lamb had remained in the fold, where it belonged, it would never have been devoured by the wicked, cruel, wolf, would it?

Willie (thoughtfully)—No, we would have had it for dinner.

Henderson—Why are you in the air force now? I thought you were in the cavalry.

Peterson—I got transferred.

Henderson—Why was that?

Peterson—Well, after an airplane throws you out, it doesn't generally walk over and bite you.

"I never figured out," muses the old timer, which spends money fast, the fellow that's won a prize in a lottery or a widow with the life insurance money."

First Furniture Maker—That bookcase isn't antique, is it?

Second Furniture Maker—No, but another day's work and it will be.

Some people dislike prohibition while others get a big kick out of it.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S TRAVELS

By James W. Brooks

Copyright 1932 by James W. Brooks

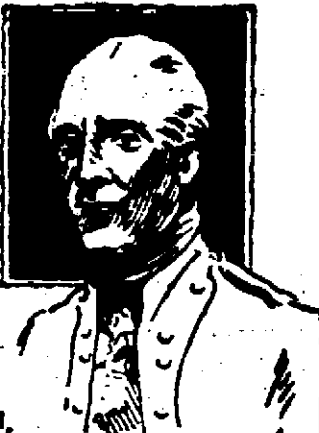

Illustrated by Calvin Roper

WASHINGTON WAS CALLED TO PHILADELPHIA IN MAY 1776, AND WHILE THERE WAS APPOINTED ON A FLAG COMMITTEE TO CHOOSE AN APPROPRIATE EMBLEM FOR THE THIRTEEN COLONIES—THE COMMITTEE CALLED ON BETSY ROSS, AN EXPERT NEEDLEWOMAN, AND IN HER HOME THE COLONIAL STRIPS AND STRIPES WAS DECIDED UPON—

CONGRESS ADOPTED THE STRIPS AND STRIPES AS THE AMERICAN FLAG IN JUNE 1777—AT THIS SAME TIME JOHN PAUL JONES WAS APPOINTED TO COMMAND THE AMERICAN SHIP, "RANGER" AND AS A RESULT THE SHIP FLEW THE NEWLY ACCEPTED FLAG—JONES WAS JUSTLY PROUD OF HIS CONNECTION WITH THE NATIONAL EMBLEM, AND WHEN THE "RANGER" SANK HE ALLOWED IT TO GO DOWN WITH HIS VESSEL AS A MARK OF HONOR TO THE DEAD

Tips on CONTRACT

REDUCED SLAMS

By TOM O'NEIL

Holding a hand of great strength, especially in one suit, a dealer at contract often does well to open with a bid of one or two to pass. This principle applies when the nature of the hand makes it reasonably certain that the bidding will be kept open or started by others.

An illustration is a hand in which Alan Gould, Associated Press sports editor, started with a bid of one club and eventually contracted for a little slam redoubled and took all the tricks.

In contrast to that is a hand in which an opponent of Mrs. Blanche Moree of the Deschanelles Club, New York, holding twelve clubs, opened the bidding with a little slam offer. Mrs. Moree and partner overcalled and triumphed in a redouble.

A high bid after an opening as low as possible often convinces opponents that the bidder is taking desperate chances and there comes a double highly profitable to the side doubled. Here was the opening with a bid of one on a powerhouse:

NORTH		EAST
♠ K Q 5 7 5 4 2		♠ J 3
♥ K 2		♥ J 10 8 7
♦ K 6		♦ A 5 3 2
♣ 7		♣ 9 5 3
WEST		SOUTH
♠ A 4		♠ A 9 6 4 3
♥ A 5		♥ K 10 8 7
♦ K Q J 9 8 7 4		♦ A K J 10 8 6 4
♣ A 2		♣ A K J 10 8 6 4

Both sides were vulnerable. The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1C	1D	2S	P
4C	4D	P	P
6C	DBL	P	P
REDBL	P	P	P

Gould took all the tricks, trumping a diamond, drawing trumps, playing the ace of spades and ace of hearts and entering dummy via the king of hearts to get discards on the spades.

Here was the original bid of a slam that was overcalled:

NORTH		EAST
♠ A 7 5 7		♠ K 10 8 7
♥ A K Q J 10 6 4		♥ K 10 8 7
♦ K		♦ A 5 3 2
♣ K		♣ A K J 10 8 6 4
WEST		SOUTH
♠ A 7 5		♠ A 7 5
♥ A K Q J 10 6 4		♥ A K Q J 10 6 4
♦ K		♦ A 5 3 2
♣ K		♣ A K J 10 8 6 4

East and West were vulnerable.

East	South	West	North
6C	P	P	6H
P	P	DBL	P
P	6S	DBL	REDBL
P	P	P	P

A diamond lead would have set the slam, but west led a low spade, assuming that north held the ace and would play it at once. When east followed suit, it was easy for south to deduce that west held the singleton king and it fell on the ace. The hearts in dummy afforded south necessary discards.

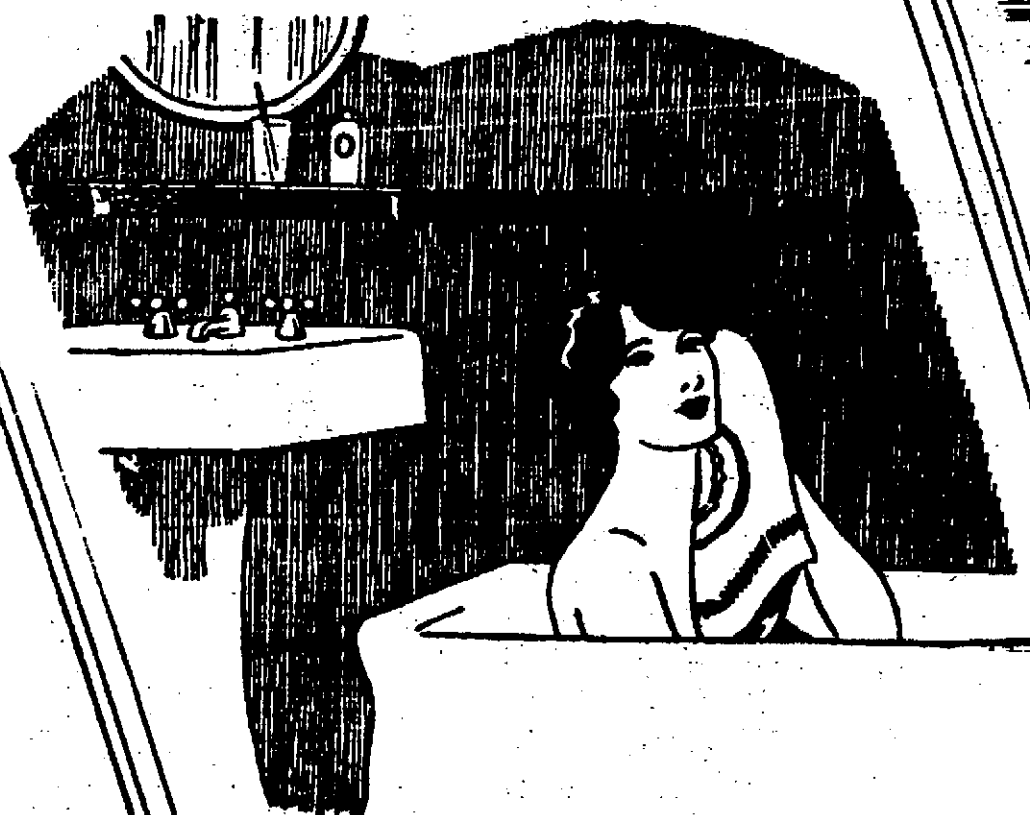

Had east passed originally or bid one club and increased the bid gradually north probably would have not undertaken what she regarded as a sacrifice bid by a slam in hearts.

Indeed east might have been doubled after eventually bidding little slam.

HOME COMFORT IS AS CHEAP AS TRAVEL

GAS for your car is well worth the money you spend for it. It takes you to any point you wish to reach speedily and in comfort, makes it simple to enjoy the great outdoors and appreciate the natural beauty of the region in which we live. We seldom think of it as expensive. But why not consider the comforts of home in the same way? Ready hot water supply for example.

Many homes are now putting up with hot water service that is available only now and then, or with heaters that date back to horse-and-buggy days, because they think of automatic water-heaters as being costly to use. As a matter of fact, the price of just one gallon of gasoline will pay for all the hot water the average family will use in twenty-four hours, for cleaning, dish-washing, personal toilet, shaving, baths and dozens of other uses, with an automatic storage water-heater. And comfort at home really is as important as comfort in travel.

Beyond mere convenience, there is actual saving in an automatic water-heater. Let us show you how. Call our office or your own plumber for an appointment.

3 Big Time Acts At The Broadway

Audiences at the Broadway Theatre Monday seemed highly pleased with the vaudeville bill offering seven Paramount acts, three of which have played "big time" with great success.

King Nawai, billed as the champion ukulele player of the world, proved his right to the title by doing Hawaiian and popular pieces with great skill. This former Victor recording artist, besides showing himself as a master of the uke also plays guitar. His novelty offerings are very pleasing.

Gallagher & Shean Junior and company do a bit of imitating their famous fathers, Ed Gallagher and J. Shean, once the idols of the show world in New York city, going over with the audiences.

Edith Karen and Boys, the closing number on the program, features the dainty and talented actress in vocal, musical and dance offerings, assisted by the boys, who are accomplished hoofers. Miss Karen formerly was with Paul Whiteman's troupe of performers.

Chapelle & Stinelle, colored songsters, formerly with Black Birds, accompanied by Fred Tomzell at the piano, have a musical act of much merit. Warren and Inman do a comedy turn that keeps the patrons in laughter throughout their sketch.

Scientific equipment, thorough optometrical skill, experience and exacting care assure accuracy.

Y., April 19 (AP).—Courtney Rogers, Southampton policeman who files for pleasure while not patrolling his beat, yesterday received the thanks of Governor Roosevelt for spotting two men who set a forest fire on Long Island. The men were arrested after Rogers had turned in a description of the men and the license number of their automobile. The chief executive thanked Rogers for "activity above and beyond your regular duties." Rogers said he saw the met setting the fire while on one of his pleasure jaunts.

Kingston: "The Crowd Roars."
The thrills and dangers of the race track, the roar of the crowd, racing cars spinning into death as drivers lose control, all these exciting scenes coupled with a love story that is different and interesting are to be found in "The Crowd Roars," with James Cagney, Joan Blondell, Ann Dvorak and Eric Linden. The show is filled with fast action and splendid acting from start to finish, and the thrills and chills of the race track are brought before the audience in a realistic manner. Twelve famous racing drivers contributed their skill in this talkie, but it is the work of James Cagney and Joan Blondell that is the outstanding part of the show. Good entertainment.

Orpheum: "Silence" and "Nevada Buckaroo."
Another double feature offering, the first being a rapid action melodrama with Clive Brook, Peggy Shannon and Marjorie Rambeau in the leading roles. The second is a tale of the wide open spaces with Bob Steele, accompanied with his horse and gun.

Broadway: "Seven Paramour Vaudeville Acts" on the stage, and "Wayward" with Nancy Carroll and Richard Arlen on the screen. The vaudeville bill brings the following specialty acts: "Gallagher, Shean, Jr. and Co.," "King Nawai and Co.," "Donald Kerr and Co.," with Ann Faye, "Edith Karen and Boys," "Saber and Ford," "Chappelle and Sterette," and "Dainty Ann Howe and Co." "Wayward" offers Nancy Carroll and Richard Arlen in a story of young love, and the problems that beset a young couple. Pauline Frederick is also in the cast. There are some bright moments in this talkie.

Ritz: "The Passionate Plumber."
Any show that has Buster Keaton in it is bound to be funny, but when Jimmie Durante and Polly Moran are also in the cast, the picture ought to be a riot of laughter. This show is just that. It is one of the most hilarious, original and genuinely rib-tickling comedy pictures that has been offered the movie going public in some time. The picture has a love story, combined with some of the funniest antics the screen has ever shown. This play should go a long way in making people forget that there ever was a depression. Beside the splendid work of Keaton and Durante, Irene Purcell and Gilbert Roland also contribute some fine acting. And the work of Buster Keaton, which is both crazy and enjoyable, will make anybody realize that Mr. Keaton is one of the finest comedians in the moving picture industry. Laughable entertainment.

Tomorrow
Kingston: Same.
Orpheum: "Caught" and "The Runaround." The first is a story of justice wherein a boy who is sent out to capture an outlaw discovers the outlaw to be his mother, Richard Arlen is the boy, while Louise Dresser cops the honors in the role of the outlaw mother. "The Runaround" is filmed in Technicolor, and Johnny Hines and Mary Brian are in the cast.

Broadway: Same.
Ritz: Same.

They have also been working on the back country roads at Marlborough, repairing them and putting them in good shape for the summer. The road from the Willow Tree House to Hallow's elder mill will also be attended to. Although there is not enough money to build this road as was requested, the worn-out macadam will be torn up and a gravel covering will take its place.

Waistlines Begin Early

Two approved costume types for below them. Note the buckles and seamings on the younger set that borrow many of their ideas from adult fashions—the child's coat, and note the hat waistlines, for instance, and the idea that her big sister might snatch off contrasting materials above and right off her head.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Slacks are expected to replace a good many of the garden and other novelty pajama types. Among the cottons which may compete for consideration in this connection are seersuckers, terry cloth, sailcloth, corduroy and some of the sturdier woolen type weaves such as eponge.

Collarets with flat bows under the chin are shown in bright colors and white, fastened at the throat by snaps. Another model features a surplice gilet style with bow posed low on the shoulder.

Emphasis is placed upon the development of contrast applique as an important trimming. For instance, a novelty dot is featured in sash and jacket, the applique design copied in the buttons, or stripes are worked at the neckline in candy-stripe arrangement.

PERCY PERKINS REMINDS

LUKE HIGGINS OF BOYHOOD

Dear Editor:
I see that Luke Higgins is in town again. The other day I saw him on Broadway, but was afraid to make myself acquainted. I will tell you why I didn't. Years and years ago when we were kids we both lived in High Falls. At that time I was a lot bigger than Luke. We used to go fishing quite a lot. Nine time out of ten Luke would catch the most fish. That would make me very mad. When we got through fishing, I would knock Luke down and take the fish away from him, and when he got up I would knock him down again. Yes, Luke still carries the prints of my fist on the back of his neck where I used to hit him. I took particular notice of that the other day when I saw him and I also took notice that Luke would go about two hundred pounds. When he was a kid he said when he got big he would get it back on me. That is why I didn't make myself acquainted. Luke and I are two ripe old fellows. "Believe it or not" Luke and I was born the same hour.
By the way, Luke, that is a fine brother you have. If that fellow had the right training he would be heavyweight king of the world. I hear the boy has a bad habit of giving people the Bronx cheer.
Say, have you heard anything of

Colored and Cotton Laces—In Any Event, Lace

New York—While trains, semi or otherwise, may not play much of a part in your life, it is always interesting to know how the other half of the world dresses. If one has an occasion for formal clothes and feels that such a train as sketched will add to the grace and charm of your costume, it is well to know that you may wear one. Shown of its train, the model sketched immediately becomes more practical, whether in black or in any of the colors in which lace is now worn, which include all the colors of the rainbow.

Orange is one of the very smart evening colors. It is sometimes combined with blue, a recent note from the Riviera saying that it is often combined there with a medium, rather hard blue on the order of one of Patou's blues. Another rather sensational news item from the same source tells of white suits worn with colored blouses. Bright red or bright blue are the usual choice, with white—luxe suits a fashion highlight.

That cotton has been glorified is no longer news, but that more and more women are picking cotton for evening deserves a headline. White organdie dresses lead, there are interesting cotton lace and net combinations and some extremists are introducing pique for evening dresses, which is hardly more extraordinary than broadcloth.

Lace is always a safe bet for the woman who does not boast of many evening dresses, and now that it turns up in all colors, it is a more valued friend than ever. Beige and blond laces, grays and pale pastel tones, and white, are still worn, but the newer note is for darker shades, not even excepting violets and royal purple.

If new footwear is on your shopping list, do not forget that toes are rounded rather than pointed. Some of them, in fact, are very stubby. This is especially true of opera pumps. These remain a big factor, although there are more tricky sandals, very open if one likes that sort of thing.

Pique Among Cottons for Evening

New York—For some time we have heard about cotton dresses for evening and pique is now one of the fabrics that is mentioned as a medium for evening dresses. At the recent Paris opening, this cotton was approved by certain couturiers, Chanel's evening dress in white pique with lei was brought back by a number of importers, many of whom expressed the opinion that because it was a novelty it would appeal to women looking for something different in an evening gown.

FIND ALL-BRAN HAS TWICE THE USABLE IRON IN LIFE

Also Furnishes "Bulk" of Vitamin B to Overcome Common Constipation

Liver is known as a good source of iron for the blood. Now, tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

But more important still, laboratory experiments show ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract.

This means Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a fine way to overcome constipation—with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy that so frequently result.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is made like that of lettuce. Inside the box it absorbs moisture, forming a mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, milder, more palatable.

How much better than risking pills and drugs—so often habit-forming. Just eat two tablespoons of ALL-BRAN daily for most types of constipation. It is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Appetizing recipes on the red and green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

GIRL SCOUT BETTY—Spring Gardening—By Montfort Amory

Frisky, the pup, contributes his most solemn attention as Betty and Mary inaugurate the first day of National Garden Week by starting work in their Girl Scout garden.

"You only watch us, but you must not touch," warns Betty, as Frisky, alert and full of plans of his own, stands by.

The girls having gone, Frisky proceeds to do a little planting for himself. Just the spot for a new base.

"It's a good thing for you that this is also 'Be Kind to Animals Week,'" says Betty, who returned just in time to catch the mischievous Frisky in the act.

No Rumble Seats for Elsa

By LILLIAN M. MITCHELL

(Copyright)

IT WAS on the tip of her tongue to say no, she wouldn't go! Say it? No, scream it and stamp her foot in the bargain. Instead a smile curved her lips upward and she said to him: "Thanks, Ted. I'll love to go, of course."

Ted Frear was always considered Elsa's special property. They weren't engaged to be married but it was more or less understood amongst the crowd that sometime when Ted had enough saved up to buy a flat full of furniture or such furniture as these fold-ups needed they would be married.

Elsa, though, was beginning to have her doubts about the matter. Ted liked her to wear good clothes and in his position he really needed them. That they cost a pretty penny, though, could not be denied. And when Ted dressed well, Elsa had to dress well, too, or she knew she would have the effect of a poor relation in for a visit.

That was the reason she had bought her fur coat. She had paid a little more for it than she had intended to pay when she entered the store. Oh, not much more! But enough that each payment was ten dollars more than she had planned and the time was strung out four months longer, too. It was a beautiful coat. Ted had told her over and over again how proud he was of her in it and so Elsa didn't much mind her skimpy lunch-eons and her breakfasts that had to be limited to a glass of orange juice in order to make the payments.

When Ted bought the new car, Elsa hadn't cared much about the one with the rumble seat.

The trouble lay in the fact that whenever they did take anyone along, the rumble seat was windy and cold and if the girl they took didn't have a fur coat, Elsa, being as one might say the hostess, could not very well let the guest sit out in the cold when she herself had a comfortable fur coat. Thus it had come about that the girl guest generally sat beside with Ted and Elsa all dressed up in her fur coat sat in the rumble seat with the man guest who was often a man she didn't care a whoop about.

And inside she would see the girl sit closer and closer to Ted who had an unusually low voice. It really was necessary to sit close to Ted to hear him. He always drove fast which necessitated close watching of the road ahead. His eyes on the road, his lips could never be seen.

"Mary and Bob are going along with us, Elsa," Ted said now.

"Oh—yes?" said Elsa.

Elsa wanted to rumble the hair on her temples as she looked at him but she resolutely turned her face the other way.

On the way home she stopped in and bought the little jersey sport suit she had wanted for several weeks. That night she wore it. When they stopped for Mary and Bob, Mary smilingly waited for Elsa to get out and jump up on the high rumble seat. Elsa smilingly greeted her and made no motion to leave her seat in the front of the car.

"Say, Elsa—I hate to speak of it, but aren't you going to sit in the rumble seat—as usual?" Mary asked finally, wrinkling her nose in a pretty, kittenish fashion she had.

"Oh," Elsa said languidly. "I can't tonight, Mary. I'd freeze in this little suit."

"Well, why didn't you wear your fur coat?" demanded Mary, a trace of anger in her voice.

"Why don't you wear your own?" asked Elsa lazily.

"I'd have to go upstairs and get it," Mary murmured coldly.

Elsa said nothing.

On the country road, however, Ted said something. Something Elsa had been listening for for a long time. "Say, why didn't you wear your fur coat?" he demanded.

"Because I'm sick and tired of sitting out in the rumble seat and watching some other girl struggle up to you," said Elsa with some spirit. "And even here I'm just freezing to death. If you ask me, you ought to get a heater, Ted."

joyous tones. "And I thought you offered to sit in that rumble because you were getting tired of me and would rather have the company of almost anyone we took along instead of having to listen to me. Say—Elsa—what do you say to getting married on Saturday afternoon, eh?"

"Married?" said Elsa hysterically. "Well, why not? Haven't we planned it for a long enough time now?" he demanded.

From behind them a sneeze announced that the guests were none too warm. Ted waved his hand back at them and then took Elsa in his arms. The kiss that he gave her wasn't chilly—not at all!

"Sometimes," said Elsa philosophically, "it pays to be selfish—but I'll wear my fur coat Saturday."

"Um—um," agreed Ted, pulling into gear reluctantly. "But you're not going to ride in the rumble again—ever!"

Knitted Modes Set New Style Pace

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THIS many a yarn which Dame Fashion is spinning these days in answer to the call of the mode for smart knitted apparel. It is not only that knitted tops in their modern versions are so good to look upon, but the fact of their being so thoroughly practical gives them a place in the heart of the sports world which none other can occupy.

As knitted fashions stand today they acknowledge no superior when it comes to ultra-chic and beguiling charm. This, together with the fact that a knitted costume stands any amount of wear and tear without losing that well-groomed appearance which every prides woman covets, accounts for the increasing enthusiasm expressed for outfits which are knitted or fashioned of knitted fabrics.

Straight from la belle Paris come the two knitted costumes pictured. The suit to the left is of loose-knit jersey in green and white, with the skirt and corsage in the same colors. The belted jacket, which stops at the waistline, together with the flat skirted pants in the skirt testify that when it comes to style details there is no point missed by designers of knitted modes.

The costume shown to the right is a French model as is also the suit just described. This sports ensemble chooses to combine red wool with Scotch cashmere. The bolero which mindy carries on her arm ready for wear in the outdoors is of the same. It is characteristic of French costume as styled for spring and the coming summer that they accent color at the top, a treatment which has been most strikingly accomplished in the present instance.

For novelty, versatility and gaiety it is the sweater which carries the day with highest honors. The sweater, crocheted or knitted in loose open mesh, is a topnotch fashion. Some of these are that open they look to be little more than fishnetting. It's quite the swaggy thing to wear one of these openwork sweaters over one's slouchy sports dress. Match it to the color of your frock or have it in striking contrast, as you will.

The new skirts with built-up waistlines have brought back-in sweaters to the fore. Necklines, too, come in for a great deal of attention in sweater designing. Collars, fish effects, jabots and all sorts of dressmaker details adding a piquant touch to the mode.

Very elaborate ensembles are being displayed, these in all white being notably lovely. For example, a sports outfit recently shown consisted of a skirt knitted in simple stitch with a row of open stitch marking the separation between the gored sections which achieved a snug fit about the hips with a slight flare below the knees. The sweater blouse accented an extremely open lace skirt. The sleeved bolero matched the skirt. A belt, a scarf and an envelope pocketbook knitted and crocheted in fanciful stitch and design added notes of interest. All in pure white, this many-in-one costume made a striking appearance.

For boleros and scarfs designers are using rayon chenille with excellent results as the chenille crochets softly and prettily, being particularly effective in pastel colorings. Women who wield the crochet needle readily are adding a touch of distinction to their bought sweaters by crocheting a shell stitch chenille edge about necklines and sleeves as well as finishing various hemlines, adding perhaps a few crocheted buttons in decorative manner.

Thomas was appointed. Reports in full will be heard at this meeting, which will be held on the afternoon of May 20.

At the close of the business session Room No. 4, under the direction of Miss Silkworth, took charge of the program. Songs, recitations and a reading, and pantomime, "Black Sambo," were rendered by the pupils of this class and much enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Howard A. Lewis was the speaker of the evening. She described her trip abroad, illustrating her talk with stereopticon views. She had visited her former homes in England and Scotland, also the schools and playgrounds there. In company with her those assembled visited these places, also the cathedrals of Europe, the gardens and winding roads of Italy, the snow-capped Swiss Alps and other places of interest.

Many fine comments were heard on the program of the evening and its splendid execution.

A social hour followed the program, during which refreshments of cake and cocoa were served by the girls of "Homemaking No. 2."

TRICKS of MAGIC EXPLAINED by WILL L. LINDHORST

HOW A CHILD CAN STEP THROUGH A PLAYING CARD

It is possible for an average-sized child or a small adult to step through a playing card. Get a good quality linen card, mark it like the above drawing and cut it along the marked lines. You will then be able to spread it apart and there should be ample room for a child to pass through. As the edges of the card remain intact, it can be said that little Johnny or Mary has actually stepped through the card, much in the manner that animals jump through paper hoops in a circus.

Almond Tree Root
A number of years ago someone dropped an almond in the crotch of a locust tree near Tulare, Calif. The resultant shoot is now bearing almonds.

Old American Fad
From 1890 to 1897, people of the United States were struck by a silk-producing craze, and the fad of the day was raising mulberry trees and breeding silkworms.

East Indian Nationalists

Officially there is no official Indian flag. Great Britain will regard India as a British-ruled empire with no even nominal status. Consequently the only official flag for India as a nation and people is the Union Jack. For certain ceremonial purposes, as is the case with other member nations of the British empire, the Union Jack is flown with the colonial badge at the intersection of the crosses, or the red or blue design is flown with a badge in the fly. The badge of India is a five-pointed star within a garland and surrounded by golden rays. However, the Indian nationalists have a flag, three horizontal bars of white, green and red, which has been down for years in spite of the prohibition of the viceregal government.

In Memoriam.

In sad and loving memory of our dear mother, Eliza Catherine Snyder, who departed this life one year ago today, April 19, 1931.
The midnight stars were gleaming
Upon a silent grave,
Where sleep without dreaming
The one we could not save.
Her weary hours and days of pain,
Her troubled nights are passed,
Her ever patient worn out frame,
Has found sweet rest at last.

Financial And Commercial

New York, April 19 (AP)—Selling in the stock market today was almost inconsequential, but the drift of prices was still downward, save for a temporary upturn in the rails. Most prices moved narrowly.
The market was somewhat unsettled after midnight by unexpected weakness in Allied Chemical, which lost 4 points to a new low. American Telephone declined 2, and U. S. Steel sagged more than a point. Telephone slipped under par for the first time since 1921. American Can sagged 2 points, and Continental, also heavy. Coca Cola broke 2 points to another new low.

General Electric and back nearly a point. During the late morning upturn, Chesapeake and Ohio, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific each sold up a point, and short covering appeared in Auburn, People's Gas and Eastman, which got up around 2 each. Pan-American "B" rose a point.

Italy was still under the favorable effects of the L. C. C. special report urging federal regulation of interstate bus lines. Further more, Union Pacific returned a fairly good statement for March, showing net operating income of $1,314,264, or only about $100,000 short that month of 1931. In the odds, Pan-American "B" rose moderately to the best price of the year, reflecting news that Standard of N. J. was negotiating to acquire the bulk of its foreign properties.

General Electric's first quarter report, showing net of only 15 cents a share, against 23 cents in the like period of last year, was even less satisfactory than generally expected, and presumably influenced the slump to a new low price in the shares. Wall Street estimates had indicated first quarter net between 20 and 25 cents a share.

Strangled to Death.
Buffalo, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—Spectators who feared to touch an apparently dead man until the arrival of a coroner stood while James Renshaw, Chicago, strangled to death in the wreckage of his truck last Thursday, the medical examiner said last night. An autopsy showed death by strangulation and the examiner said his life could have been saved.

Unique Confession.
The flag is the only member of the Red family found in fresh water. It is widely distributed throughout the Great Lakes and is also found in the other large lakes of Canada.

Who was Who?
By LOUISE M. COMSTOCK
ROBINSON CRUSOE

IT IS because Daniel Defoe was a good newspaper man, able to see the "story" in a current news yarn concerning the rescue of a marooned sailor from a desert island that we have today that universal favorite "Robinson Crusoe."
The yarn upon which he based his book was about one Alexander Selkirk, English mariner born at Largo, Fifeshire, who early went into privateering in the South seas and by 1704 had earned promotion to command of the good ship Cinque Ports. As the result of a quarrel with his captain, he was at his own request sent ashore at Juan Fernandez, a tiny island some 850 miles west of the coast of Chile, where he lived for four years and four months, much, perhaps, as did the character he inspired. He was finally rescued by Capt. Woodes Rogers and returned to civilization. At the time of his death Selkirk had attained rank of lieutenant on H. M. S. Weymouth.
Not only was it his story upon which Defoe built "Robinson Crusoe," but Juan Fernandez is today frequently known as Crusoe's island, and boasts not only many of the very umbrellia trees that figure in the story, but a Crusoe's cave, and, near the summit of its highest mountain, Selkirk's Lookout, a tablet, placed there in 1903 in honor of the original Robinson Crusoe.

Hampered by Press, States Lindbergh
Hopewell, N. J., April 19 (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh says he has been unable to re-establish a definite contact with kidnapers of his 21-months-old son.

"We are extremely anxious to re-establish contact with the kidnapers and while we sincerely appreciate the cooperation we have received from many press organizations, our attempts are still greatly hampered or made impossible by press activity," said a statement he issued last night.
"Up to the present time we have been unable to re-establish a definite contact."

Unique Confession.
The flag is the only member of the Red family found in fresh water. It is widely distributed throughout the Great Lakes and is also found in the other large lakes of Canada.

ROBINSON CRUSOE

IT IS because Daniel Defoe was a good newspaper man, able to see the "story" in a current news yarn concerning the rescue of a marooned sailor from a desert island that we have today that universal favorite "Robinson Crusoe."
The yarn upon which he based his book was about one Alexander Selkirk, English mariner born at Largo, Fifeshire, who early went into privateering in the South seas and by 1704 had earned promotion to command of the good ship Cinque Ports. As the result of a quarrel with his captain, he was at his own request sent ashore at Juan Fernandez, a tiny island some 850 miles west of the coast of Chile, where he lived for four years and four months, much, perhaps, as did the character he inspired. He was finally rescued by Capt. Woodes Rogers and returned to civilization. At the time of his death Selkirk had attained rank of lieutenant on H. M. S. Weymouth.
Not only was it his story upon which Defoe built "Robinson Crusoe," but Juan Fernandez is today frequently known as Crusoe's island, and boasts not only many of the very umbrellia trees that figure in the story, but a Crusoe's cave, and, near the summit of its highest mountain, Selkirk's Lookout, a tablet, placed there in 1903 in honor of the original Robinson Crusoe.

Hampered by Press, States Lindbergh
Hopewell, N. J., April 19 (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh says he has been unable to re-establish a definite contact with kidnapers of his 21-months-old son.

"We are extremely anxious to re-establish contact with the kidnapers and while we sincerely appreciate the cooperation we have received from many press organizations, our attempts are still greatly hampered or made impossible by press activity," said a statement he issued last night.
"Up to the present time we have been unable to re-establish a definite contact."

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan J. Gould

(Associated Press Sports Editor)

The manager of one of the clubs contending for the pennant, faced this spring with the familiar problem generated by the Amateurism Amendment, adopted somewhat unusual methods.

One day he gathered the players in the clubhouse and remarked in effect:

"Boys, I'm not going to give you a prohibition license, and you must act or set up a stock of fancy drinks. I take it for granted, that each and every one of you wants to keep his job by doing the best he can at all times."

"I don't see any particular harm in taking an occasional drink or two. I may feel like a few myself now and then. The only thing I am going to ask is that, first, you be careful of the stuff you take; and, second, that you exercise enough good judgment to keep out of trouble and in condition."

"I'm going to keep an eye on the situation but I am also going to leave it to every man to take care of himself, until I discover he can't." So far, this particular club has had little or no trouble along this line.

Pop Today's Drink.

The old days when it was considered the thing to do for ball players to hold high festival in the nearest brewery have just about vanished. They hang around the soda fountains instead of the poolrooms, now, partaking of mild games of chance or even milder beverages.

Bridge is more popular than poker or black-jack. Golf in the morning is preferred to the gay life at night by an increasing number of athletes.

Old-timers may regret the growth of all these so-called softening influences of modern times. They would like to see a more swash-buckling spirit manifest, at least on the field.

But the players now hardly can be blamed for reaching the conclusion that too much rowdiness or eccentricity does not fatten the bankroll in the long run.

Art Shires paid the penalty of being too colorful and is now more or less on probation while attempting a comeback. Larry Dean was allowed to come back for another test with the Cardinals only by promising to behave himself and obey orders.

The days when a Rube Waddell or Bugs Raymond could defy law and order, and get away with it right along, have disappeared.

Raymond Warns Up.

Speaking of Raymond recalls a yarn I heard this spring. Bugs, then pitching for the Giants, was handed a ball by John McGraw and told to warm up in the bullpen.

He was cold sober when he left the bench but came back a half hour later with a silly look on his face and unquestionably under the influence of liquor. To McGraw's indignation, he had stopped outside the park, sold the baseball for around 75 cents and used the proceeds for refreshments at the nearest saloon.

Maroon Varsity To Meet Alumni

The Kingston High School varsity will play the Alumni in its first game of the season Wednesday afternoon on the Athletic Field. Nine former ball players of Kingston High will represent the Alumni against Kias's varsity.

The school boys have a tough combination to meet in the Alumni. All its members have been stars in high school and had big hands in making Maroon history. All were stars individually so if the varsity takes over its predecessors, it can call it a successful day and look forward to a big season.

Coach Kias will probably line up Debrosky, Lamb, Purvis and Burgevin on the infield; Greiner, McEntee and Astolas in the outer garden, while Roosa will catch, with Thomas, Mahar or Cullen on the mound.

As for the Alumni, Paul Joyce, Bob Cullum, Flip Jones and Max Aduchelsky will make up the infield; Johnny Quest, Bill Fuchsle and Eddie Minasian the outer garden, and Charles Tiano pitch, with Dick Whiston receiving.

Following is the DUSO League baseball schedule for the season of 1932:

Earl Sande To Ride In Kentucky Derby

New York, April 19 (P)—Earl Sande again has designs on the Kentucky Derby.

Winner of three Derbies, a feat equaled only by the great Isaac Murphy, Sande once again has answered the call of the turf with hopes of being the first jockey to pilot home four winners in the $50,000 blue grass classic, to be run at Churchill Downs May 7.

Sande hasn't yet got a mount for the race but he has several prospects. Maxie Hirsch, trainer of Mrs. Louis G. Kaufman's Tick On Post, has promised him one of the colts if both are sent to the post. Pete Walls, contract rider for the stable, will get his choice but even Hirsch can't decide which is the better of the two colts.

Two years ago Sande returned to the saddle, after a disastrous experience as trainer and owner, to ride to fame and fortune aboard Gallant Fox. The Fox was his third Derby winner. Previously he had won with Flying Ebony and Zev.

This Game of Golf

By O. K. KEELER

Dave Ogilvie, veteran Scottish professional, regaled us with anecdotes of the tall figures of the past in golf during the recent invitation tournament for women at Augusta, Ga., which was won by Mrs. O. S. Hill. Dave's stories dated back even before the heyday of the famed triumvirate, Vardon, Taylor and Braid.

Andrew Kirkaldy—old Andra—still master of ceremonies at the home green at St. Andrew's, though he never sits far from that spot, was the hero of classic tales aplenty. "Andrew and Benny Sayers, of North Berwick, were the greatest of friends—off the course," said David. "And on the course, they usually were paired in the big tournaments; the international, and such. And whether they were playing with or against each other, their conversation was likely to be tart—even acrimonious."

"Sayers, as you know, was a little, short man; about five feet four. He was very ingenious and a great club-maker."

"Stand Up and Hit."

"When a match would be tightening up, and Andra and Benny were partners, Andra would get critical. A drive by Benny seemed not long enough, perhaps."

"Get a fiver knees, ye wee bugger, and hit the ball," Andra would urge him.

"Once, playing the sixteenth, Sayers sliced the drive out on the railroad track, over the wall. It's out of bounds, now, but in those days there was such thing, on the side."

"Old Andra," a huge man, clambered over the wall and looked over the situation. The ball lay in a terrible place, tucked up against a steel rail among some rock ballast.

"Andra came back to the wall. 'Gie us the loan o' yer wee masher, man,' he suggested to Sayers."

"Sayers climbed over the wall and took a peek."

"Break yer ain clobber!" he rejoined."

Head-Work.

And once, in a medal competition, the opening round was played right after a fall of snow which covered the old course. Harry Vardon was in it, and James Braid, and John Henry Taylor and other luminaries. But at the end of the first round it was stalwart "old Andra" Kirkaldy who was leading.

"I played wi' my heid," he explained, when they asked him how he had done so well in the "snow." So some of them watched him start out for the next round—and noticed that he removed his cap and rubbed the old gutta-percha ball carefully through his thick and curly locks before driving, at each tee."

Old Andra, indeed, was using his "heid." He had rubbed his hair full of an oily lotion or pomade, before starting. That treatment on the ball kept the "snow" from sticking to it, so that it rolled farther and putted infinitely better."

Wee Ben Sayers is dead, now, and old Jock Morris of Hoylake—gone to join old Tom Morris and young Tom Morris, on the vast greens of the Elysian Fields. But old Andra Kirkaldy carries on.

Tagging Major League Bases

Cards With Four Defects Out of Six Tries Face Uphill (Climb—Giants
Off to Worse Start.

(By The Associated Press)

With the big league ball season one frigid week old today, it begins to look like the champion St. Louis Cardinals are to receive what is known as a run for their money in the National League.

In losing their fourth straight home game yesterday the champions set a new low mark for the last two seasons, dropping into seventh place. Their longest losing streak at Sportsman's Park last season was three straight, and only once did they drop four in a row on the road.

Where they started last season's victorious dash with a succession of triumphs, winning eight of their first eleven games and taking a lead they never relinquished, they found themselves today with only two wins in six starts and a long, uphill climb before them.

It is probable Sergeant Street's boys will collect themselves in the near future and move up around the top, but the odds are long against their making another such runaway as that of last year. Charlie Root of the Cubs set them down with four hits yesterday and would have scored a shutout but for an error by Rookie Bill Herman in the ninth. The score was 3 to 1.

Giants Lose 7-1.

The one cheering note so far as the Cardinals are concerned lies in the fact that the New York Giants, generally regarded as their most dangerous rivals, have got away to an even worse start. Walter (Huck) Betts of the Boston Braves handed the McGrawmen a 7 to 1 beating yesterday, sending them definitely into the basement.

Led by Babe Herman and Ray Kolp, the Cincinnati Reds further aroused their constituency with a 5 to 0 win over Pittsburgh. Kolp held the Pirates to five hits while Herman drove in four of the Reds' runs with a double and a home run.

Phelps Pitches Shutout.

Babe Phelps, a sensation for Brooklyn in 1930 and a flop in 1931, made his 1932 debut by blanking the Phillies, 8 to 0, on six hits. Glenn Wright, Dodger shortstop, hit a home run and two singles.

The Washington Senators supplied the fireworks in the American League with a crushing 15 to 7 triumph over the Athletics. Walt Johnson's proteges topped things off with a six-run surge in the ninth, to which Sam West and Joe Judge contributed homers.

6 Errors For Sox.

Wes Ferrell rang out his second victory of the season as Cleveland stopped the Chicago White Sox, 2 to 1. Vic Frasier pitched sterling ball for the losers, permitting five hits in eight innings, but the Sox made six errors behind him.

Whitlow Wsatt of Detroit likewise scored victory No. 2 as the Tigers took a 4 to 0 lead. The Tigers knocked Sam Gray from the hill in the fourth.

The Yanks and Red Sox were not scheduled.

GRAND OFFICERS VISITED KINGSTON LODGE, O. E. S.

The lodge rooms of Kingston Chapter 155, O. E. S., were the scene of very impressive ceremonies Friday evening, when the district deputy grand matron, Helen Hazelton, and assistant grand lecturer, the Rev. John Neander, made their official visit to Kingston Chapter. The rooms presented a very beautiful appearance of a spring garden with many lovely butterflies. As the grand officers entered, the R. W. Helen Hazelton, D. D. G. M., was escorted to the East by R. W. Sister Huhne, acting grand conductress, and R. W. John Neander, assistant grand lecturer, was escorted by R. W. Comstock, acting grand associate conductress, through a rainbow arch formed by the floral staff of Kingston Chapter. Both were welcomed by the worthy matron, Ethel L. Holmes.

Preceding the meeting a banquet was rendered the grand officers at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The meeting in the chapter rooms was attended by about 450 Eastern Stars and Master Masons. During the evening very interesting addresses were made by R. W. Sister Hazelton, R. W. John Neander and Most Worthy Grace V. Merritt, P. G. M. The floral staff presented a drill of flowers. The officers of Kingston Chapter gave a beautiful drill. "Prophecy of Color," presenting the district deputy with a gift of gold from the members of the chapter. R. W. John Neander was presented with a gift of gold from the chapter. Sister Jessie Wolfersteig sang two groups of songs which was greatly enjoyed by all. A sketch, "Black Clouds," was given by Edna Renn and Helen Koepfen, which was enjoyed by all. A very beautiful basket of flowers was presented Worthy Matron Ethel L. Holmes from the officers of Kingston Chapter. At the close of the reception a delicious buffet luncheon was served and a social hour enjoyed. Guests were present from all the chapters in the district.

for better taste

CIGARETTE smokers owe a lot to Turkish tobacco, for it was cigarettes made out of Turkish tobacco that first became the vogue in this country.

Then it was found that a blend of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos was better than either kind of tobacco straight. It takes just the right amount of the right kind of Turkish tobacco to give a cigarette better taste. For Turkish tobacco is to cigarettes what seasoning is to food—the spice—the sauce. You want enough but not too much.

There is just enough Turkish in CHESTERFIELDS to give them a better flavor, a more pleasing aroma; to make them taste better.

Turkish tobacco must pay an import duty of 35c a pound; but cost doesn't count when it comes to making CHESTERFIELD the best cigarette that science and money can produce.

TURKISH tobacco is strong leaf-by-leaf and hangs in long strands to dry and cure in the sun. In every important tobacco-growing center of Turkey, CHESTERFIELD has its own tobacco buyers.
